

Thank you for your interest in our Multi-Company auditions on March 26th. We had a much larger response than expected and all slots have been booked. It is possible that cancellations may occur between now and then, so check back from time to time to see if a spot has opened up.

This is not the only opportunity to audition for these companies. Several companies have activities and events you can join which do not require an audition, and some companies will be holding separate auditions throughout the year.

Visit the links below to learn more about each company and what they offer and follow them on social media or sign up to their newsletters to keep up to date on their events.
